GRENADA, MISSISSIPPI, FRIDAY, JULY 5, 1929.

NUMBER 7.

NEW OFFICERS TAKE REINS

At the meeting of the Grenada Rotary Club Tuesday noon, the newly-elected officers took over the reins of administration. After expressing his appreciation of the way the members of the club had responded to the calls made upon them and his thanks to Dr. C. K. Bailey for his efficiency in discharging his duties as chairman of the program committee, A. M. Carothers, retiring president, turned the gavel over to B. J. Anderson, who will preside for the next twelve months. The new president made a plea for the whole-hearted cooperation of every member during his administration and he promised, if given this cooperation, to try to give the club the best year it has ever had. He suggested a rising vote of thanks to the retiring president, program committee chairman and board of directors for the excellent work they had done during the year. Dr. R. A. Clanton, chairman of the new program committee, was assured that he might expect 100% cooperation from the club in carrying on his work.

Miss Lula Mae Provine delighted the club with two interesting readings.

Mr. George, of Water Valley, district manager of the Kraft Cheese Co., was introduced by J. T. Thomas. He told of the remarkable progress made in the southland in the past few years in the way of dairying and he predicted that ere many more years pass the south will be the "milk pail of the nation". Mr. George said that an average of $32,000,000 had gone north yearly from the south for cheese but that in 1928 he ventured to say $28,000,000 of this annual output remained at home to buy southern made cheese.

C. H. Calhoun, who took charge Tuesday as secretary, made a brief announcement just before the meeting closed.

Besides Mr. George, other guests Tuesday were George F. Kraft, of Grenada, and W. C. Curle, of Holcomb.

MAIL ROUTE NO. 2 EXTENDED

Patrons West and Southwest of Hardy Now Served.

Beginning July 1, rural mail route No. 2, out of Grenada, was extended so that Carrier J. E. White, instead of stopping at the eastern corporate limits of Hardy, now goes through the town and proceeds west until he strikes highway 51, then he proceeds south to the property of Mr. Tom Meek, then he goes back to Hardy on the old highway and rejoins his route and returns to the Grenada post office. The extension puts Grenada more immediately in touch with citizens living west of Hardy and adjacent to the route named, and gives these good people daily mail out of the Grenada post office.

"Pilgrims" Youthful

The average age of the Pilgrims, with the exception of Brewster and his wife and Carver and his wife, was probably less than twenty-five years. William Bradford, their governor for so many years, was then only thirty-three; Edward Winslow, a subsequent governor, was then twenty-five; Miles Standish was thirty-six, John Alden was twenty-one, Gilbert Winslow was twenty-one, John Howland was twenty-seven, and Samuel Fuller was nineteen.

BOND ISSUE IS LOST BY MORE THAN 2 TO 1

Proposition to Build New Road in Beat 1 Defeated in Election Saturday—Reasons for Loss—Increase in School Levy Carries—Little Interest Manifested in Either Election.

The first defeat of bonds to build roads in Grenada county took place Saturday, June 29. The sponsors of the bond issue to secure funds to build a gravelled highway from Grenada southwest via the old county Almhouse, Spring Hill and Sweet Home churches, thence southwesterly to the Carroll county line, met their Waterloo. The victory of those opposed to the bonds was significant. It was more than 2 to 1.

Those who had farms along the proposed highway and who were immediately interested got out a circular which in the judgment of many did harm to the cause they were seeking to further.

A circular issued by a number of the representative women of the town in opposition to the bond issue had much to do with arousing the tax payers as to the gravity of piling bonds upon bonds, public debt upon public debt. Unquestionably all who favored the bond issue either went to the polls or were brought to the polls. The bond issue people polled their full strength. It is likewise true that there were many who would have voted against the bonds who did not go to the polls. Much personal work was done for the bond issue and very little against it the day of the election.

The Sentinel believes it makes a correct statement when it says that fully 75 per cent of those voting against the bond issue did so from a sense of public duty and not because of opposition to the road per se. It is well understood how those who lived adjacent to the road would favor the bond issue. That is but natural. But it is also true that interested persons are not usually regarded as proper arbiters. It was the already heavy bonded indebtedness of the county that scored a victory against the bond issue. The Sentinel thinks it speaks correctly when it states that when the present bonded indebtedness is largely scaled down, the people will be ready to build this road.

Another thing which made some think seriously about contracting further road debts is that there is in the legislative incubator a permanent road building program, when it will be hatched, no one knows, and these thought it best to make no more road projects until this legislative chicken comes out of the incubator.

Some voters seriously questioned whether the bonds could have been issued had they been voted for the reason that the city government and Grenada including the rural part of district one, and the other political subdivisions of the county, now owe bonds which total more than 15 per cent of the assessed valuation of the property of the county. Grenada and district one maybe are not in this category, but inasmuch as the law fixes 15 per cent of the total assessment of the county as the limit of its bond issues, these hold that subdivisions of a county must be considered in arriving at what is 15 per cent of the total assessment as regards bond issues.

Both West and East Grenada precincts registered against the bond issue and were joined by the voters of Elliott. In behalf of the citizens of Grenada, The Sentinel tenders congratulations to Elliott on what it believes to have been a display of good judgment in the matter.

The proposition submitted to the voters of the county outside of the City of Grenada to increase the school tax levy to 5 mills, carried. There was not enough interest at two precincts to prompt officers to come for the ballot box.

The vote on the bond issue of Grenada as well as that of the voters outside of Grenada on the increase of the school tax levy, shows an apathy and an indifference characteristic of the whole country and that does not bode well for the future. "Old man Apathy" is most insidious in his work. He makes many people think that matters are all right anyway. He makes mental laziness that causes men and women to fail to inform themselves.

The vote by precincts on bond issue was:

	For	Against
West Grenada	61	90
East Grenada	25	109
Elliott	5	20
Tie Plant	18	1

Total 104 220
or a majority of 116 out of a total vote of 324.

The total vote for the 5 mill levy was 218; against 128. Kirkman voted solidly against the 5 mill levy and Elliott gave a majority of 10 against.

MILK SOLD IN AMOUNTS TO $1.00

Agent's Report at Farm Development Association Tuesday Shows Progress in Dairying in Grenada County—Kraft Cheese Co. Representative Says Northern Cheese Companies Have Abandoned Southern Market—Negro Farmers Are Present.

The Grenada County Farm Development Association had its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, of this week. The time is the first Tuesday, 10 o'clock, a. m.

The meeting was well attended. A splendid talk was made to the association by Mr. George of the Kraft cheese plant at Water Valley. He evidently knows the cheese business and also knows what a good cow can do and how cows should be cared for. He gave some very excellent suggestions as to pasturage and how to make certain of pasture grass.

Mr. George made a statement that will surprise many, and that is that the cheese industry, in the South, where it had been taken hold of at all, had developed to the point that northern manufacturers of cheese had abandoned southern markets. Mr. George said southern made cheese was of a superior quality to that made in the north.

Mr. W. C. Curle, who is the agent and look-over man of the association, gave a brief outline of his work during the past 30 days, and showed what he had done towards correcting errors in milk shipments. He made the gratifying announcement to stock raisers that he had been given the authority to vaccinate afflicted animals.

Mr. Curle gave the figures which show that the total milk checks for the county for the month of May were $4548; the June report is not yet ready. The receipts from milk shipments came as follows: From three trucks, 96,000 pounds, $2040.00, which shows a price of 52 1/2 cents per lb. 34 cans sold H. L. Honeycutt, $204; 40 cans shipped from Holcomb, 48 from Hardy, 5 from Leflore, 199 Grenada and 5 from Elliott, a total of 331 cans or 1655 gallons, besides the three truck shipments.

There were several colored farmers present and one of them, Randolph Ingram of near Parsons, made a very brief talk which showed that the colored man is being awakened to the value of the dairying business. President J. T. Thomas stated that he was voicing the sentiment of the association in stating that it is desired to give the colored man the same consideration in the dairy business that is given the white citizen.

The Sentinel wonders sometimes if the people of the county have stopped to count the value of the association to the county and to appreciate even in a small way what it has already accomplished.

TELL OF CLEARANCE SALE

In this issue of The Sentinel on page 3 may be found an announcement of interest to every person within a radius of many miles of Grenada, whether that person resides within Grenada's trade territory or not. If he does not live in that territory, it will pay him to read this announcement anyway, for inducements are offered that should make one willing to travel many extra miles to take advantage of them.

Reference is had to the clearance sale of Townes-Kimbrough Co. first mention of which is made in this week's paper. Prices are quoted on merchandise that is now in constant demand and they are so drastically cut that they can not fail to appeal to everyone who reads this announcement.

This paper could go on and on telling of the different articles offered and of the marvelous reductions made, but the reader should learn these things for himself and that he may do by turning right now to page three.

Old American Cities

St. Augustine, Fla., is the oldest city in the United States founded by Europeans. The Spanish settled on this site in 1565 and it has been continuously occupied ever since. Santa Fe, N. M., is our second oldest city. It was founded by the Spanish about 1605 on the site of a deserted Indian pueblo.

Mr. and Mrs. Waring Taylor spent the first of the week in Memphis.

Mr. Robert Horton, of Indiana, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Gus Horton.

"JAKE'S PLACE" PROVIDES IDEAL RECREATION SPOT

Those in Grenada who have not yet visited "Jake's Place", just east of the Fulteyville community across Bogue, have something to look forward to and they should make it a point to go there at the first opportunity. For here is provided something that Grenada has been needing for a long time.

The place is owned and operated by H. C. (Jake) Whitaker, a Grenadian known and esteemed by all other Grenadians. Mr. Whitaker conceived the idea of establishing an up to date tourist camp where travelers might find accommodations for the night and where they might at the same time find various things for their recreation and entertainment. So he started on his project. In a natural depression between two hills he built a dam to check the water and to hold water from a well bored by him. Thus a small lake was formed and this has been abundantly stocked with government fish to provide, in the course of a year or two, fine sport for anglers. Some difficulty has been experienced in securing a good flow of water from the well but Mr. Whitaker hopes ere long to have a plentiful supply and that the lake will be full enough to send water continually over the spillways so that swimming may be enjoyed by those who care for it.

Several cottages have already been built to provide sleeping quarters for tourists and many more are to be built as rapidly as possible. Showers baths are to be installed and everything is to be the last word in tourist camps. There are already two tennis courts open to the public and Mr. Whitaker expects to have grounds prepared for other games. Tables are set under spreading branches of huge shade trees where one may feast on barbecued meats and chickens and Brunswick stew, prepared in one of the best and most sanitary kitchens right on the grounds.

Mr. Whitaker is giving almost his entire time to the place and is always glad to show visitors around.

25 YEARS AGO IN GRENADA

Our genial friend, Mr. Jas. Cuff, accompanied by his two intelligent daughters, Misses May and Kate, left on Tuesday morning to visit the fair at St. Louis.

There was a pleasant gathering at J. T. Arndale's, one mile east of Grenada, on the Fourth of July, participated in by the members of that community and a number of townspeople. This social session was held in the grove opposite Mr. Arndale's store, where barbecued meats and Brunswick stew were served at noon hour. The day was most pleasantly spent.

Miss Hettie Kosminsky leaves this week for Atlantic City, N. J., for a month's vacation in quest of health.

A. J. McCaslin will go to Cincinnati about the 15th inst. to attend the annual reunion of the Elks. He will be absent a week.

CRASH RESULTS IN 2 DEAD, 3 INJURED

Two Grandchildren of E. R. Smith Die from Injuries Received in Crash Friday with Panama Limited—Three Other Children Are Injured. Several Eye-witnesses to Shocking Tragedy.

The community was shocked last Friday evening when the news was flashed over the town that the northbound Panama Limited, due here at 6:50, had struck a car containing five children at the power plant crossing, a quarter mile south of the depot. And when two hours later, a little three-year old girl died from injuries sustained in the crash, widespread anxiety was manifested over the latest news from the hospital where the injured were taken.

The occupants of the car were Louise Smith, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Smith, John Raleigh Smith, 9, Juanita Smith, 7, and E. R. Smith, Jr., 5, children of Mrs. S. O. Martin and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Smith, and Emma Sue Sykes, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Sykes, and also a grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Smith.

Louise Smith was driving the car, a small coupe with a rumble seat. They had just left the ice plant and were proceeding toward the crossing. Several eyewitnesses state that they thought the car would stop every second for the train which was fast approaching. They say that the car was moving at a snail's pace and that they thought the driver would stop it near the crossing. It is thought now that the brakes would not hold for the front wheels of the automobile were in the center of the railroad track when the locomotive's cowcatcher struck the car, threw it around to the right and away from the train and hurling all the children, except the driver, out of the car. The train, in charge of Conductor J. C. Turner, of Canton, was stopped in half its length by Engineer Waldron, also of Canton, and members of the train crew and passengers assisted in helping the injured into the ambulance.

Little more than two hours later the soul of little Emma Sue had winged its way back to the God who gave it. Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon at 3:30 from the family residence by Rev. J. H. Holder, pastor of the Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. E. R. Henderson, pastor of Central Baptist Church.

Monday morning at 10 o'clock Mr. Holder was called upon to perform a similar sad service over the remains of little John Raleigh Smith, who succumbed to his injuries at 6 p. m. Sunday. The bodies of both young children were laid to rest in Woodlawn Memorial Park, there to await the Resurrection Morn when they will again be united with their loved ones.

Grave fears were entertained for several days for Louise Smith. She sustained a fractured hip and internal injuries and it was thought for a while that she would not survive. But she is regarded now as improving and it is thought she will eventually recover.

E. R., Jr., and Juanita are thought to be out of danger. The last named was the least injured of the quintet.

The beautiful floral tributes that cover the two small mounds which mark the resting places of the two children whose lives were taken as toll bear mute tribute to the love, to the kindness and to the sympathetic hearts of Grenada people. Their hearts pour out always to those in distress and when such a tragedy as this is visited upon a home, their manifestations of love and sympathy give evidence again that God still reigns.

"Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God"—these words should give consolation to the grief-stricken loved ones and should serve in some measure to assuage their grief.

The Sentinel joins with others in extending its deepest sympathy to them in this dark hour.

will return to his former position in St. Louis.

Mrs. W. H. Whitaker has returned from a visit to the World's fair.

James B. Brown, of Meridian, and the owner of a foundry at Laurel, was a guest of W. A. Rock the first of the week.

W. B. Hoffa spent Saturday in Memphis, on business.

Mrs. Lizzie Allen and Miss Georgia Allen are in Indian Territory visiting relatives.

Think It Over

Take away from our hearts the love of the beautiful and you take away the charm of life.

TEST FOR TUBERCULOSIS.

Jackson, Miss., July 3.—Attala county will vote July 30 on a proposal to test all cattle in the county to determine whether they are infected with bovine tuberculosis. The board of supervisors of Attala meeting Monday at Kosciusko, set the election date after petitions asking for the election had been filed with the board, according to Dr. R. V. Rafnel, State Veterinarian and Executive Officer of the Mississippi Live Stock Sanitary Board.

Dr. Rafnel and Dr. L. L. Denson of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry, attended the meeting of the board and outlined the procedure of the campaign to be followed if the election carries.

Under the campaign which will be conducted if the county votes in favor of it, all cattle in the county will be tested to determine whether they are infected with the disease. Those infected will be destroyed, the county, state, federal government and cow-owners standing the costs of testing and of cattle killed.

Because of the increase in the dairy industry in the state, active campaigns against tuberculosis in cattle, or bovine tuberculosis, are being carried on by the Live Stock Board. Holmes county is now in the middle of a testing campaign and Lauderdale county is to vote on a similar campaign on July 9. Several counties have already voted favorably and conducted testing campaigns.

Because of the danger of human infection from drinking milk from tubercular cows, it is necessary that all tuberculosis be stamped out in herds where the dairy industry is advancing. Dr. Rafnel points out, in order that the best markets may be made available for Mississippi's dairymen.

FISH BEING KILLED

Western Citizens Complain to Board of Supervisors.

A number of citizens in the western portion of Grenada county were before the board of supervisors this week to make formal complaint about the killing of fish by what they think is creosote which gets into the waters of Bogue river and thence into the Yalobusha river from ties and other timber treated at Tie Plant as they think.

This same matter has been up for consideration on sundry occasions heretofore. There has been much said for several years about the killing of fish all along the Yalobusha river as far as Greenwood. And if the creosote is killing the fish, there should be some means devised to prevent it from polluting the waters of the river. The Tie Plant officials have met every official complaint heretofore in a spirit of fairness and have given assurance that everything possible would be done to keep the creosote out of the river. Of course it is realized that there have been much creosoted timbers used in bridge building and that it is possible that there have been some creosote pollutions as to the waters of the river from bridge timbers, however, if it is the creosote that is killing the fish that are claimed to have been killed, undoubtedly most of it is coming from Tie Plant. And in view of the fact that the United States government is spending many thousands of dollars to place fish in waters all over the land, and that Mississippi is now making efforts to enforce its game and fish law, it would seem to be worse than foolish if everything that can be done is not done to preserve the fish.

It is stated that Mr. Amos Smith, general superintendent of the Ayer & Lord plants, is to be here within a few days and at that time a conference will be held with the board of supervisors and the complainants with the view of making still further efforts to keep all creosote out of the river.

H. T. JACKSON NAMED COTTON ENUMERATOR

Mr. H. T. Jackson, a farmer just across Bogue from Grenada has been named by the Director of the Census at Washington City cotton enumerator for this county. There were several, seems, applying for the place. It is stated that Messrs. C. I. Gibson, Lewis Reed, W. B. Root, Eugene Davis and W. J. Sherwood, son of E. M. Sherwood, Grenada's very capable and efficient depot agent, were applicants. It is thought that Mr. Jackson was named at the instance of the Republican refer for Grenada county. Mr. Jackson will no doubt meet acceptably the duties of the place he has been named to fill.

Dangerous Practice

A police captain sounded the warning that courting in automobiles is dangerous. For that matter courting is dangerous any place at any time.

DOES GOV. BILBO MEAN THAT THE PEOPLE CANNOT BE TRUSTED?

In the lengthy statement which Gov. Bilbo gave to the press of the state last Saturday in which he made a labored argument against the position taken by the house of representatives in regard to road measures sponsored by him, we were surprised that he should indict the capacity of the people to name public officials. In this particular, the Governor said:

"The elective system has been a failure in Mississippi. It has been a failure in every state of the American Union". Belated words!

Does the Governor mean that the people cannot be trusted? We admit that, according to our way of thinking, the people of Mississippi have made some awful blunders in the exercise of the right of suffrage, blunders that have had damaging effects in giving the careless minded a wrong viewpoint of public affairs and that have made many apologies and explanations necessary to outsiders. Nevertheless we were surprised that the Governor should allow his overweening desire to name and to control the highway commission to cause him to hold that he or any other man is better qualified to say who shall hold office than the people themselves. We thought that the Governor gave the people credit for his political successes in Mississippi and that going before the people was the Governor's long suit. What meat has our Caesar fed upon that that he becomes super-wise and greater than the people?

The rock upon which Gov. Bilbo and the lower house of the legislature have split is that of whether highway commissioners should be named by him or elected by the people. Gov. Bilbo has refused every overture unless he were allowed to name the commissioners.

The people elected Gov. Bilbo. They elect United States senators, supreme court judges and all other state officers, and it is illogical to say that they cannot wisely elect highway commissioners.

The Sentinel has been fair with Gov. Bilbo. We have tried to consider matters before his administration in a spirit of fairness. He had a great opportunity when he was inducted into office. But an onlooker is bound to concede that his apparently overweening efforts to dominate and control everything that has come up, have been his undoing.

Somebody needs to talk plainly to him. He yet has two years and a half to face about and retrieve what he has lost. For the sake of the state, let it be hoped that he may show a broader conception of the Governor's office and look less to self and more to the general welfare.

WATCH FOR ROADBED CHANGING.

We are making much ado over the amount of federal highway funds that are allotted to Mississippi. The total is only $1,300,000 while the state will spend several times that much. In other words, for the sum of one million three hundred thousand dollars, the state practically turns over the building and control of its highways to the federal government.

Now mark this down: When permanent road building is begun in Mississippi, we are going to see the spectacle of abandoning much of the present roadbeds and the laying of new ones; and this in face of the fact that the roadbeds for the present main highways of the state were located by direction of federal highway engineers.

Of course there are many places that should be changed where local interests and not the interest of the traveling public controlled in establishing locations. There are many curves that should be eliminated, many of which were left largely because of local conditions, but when it comes to changing anything like 75 per cent of present roadbeds on through highways, it would be worse than absurd and at an immense toll on public money.

Engineers, a collusion of contractors and incapable and grafting road officials constitute an element that makes road building a most expensive luxury.

The legislature should make some specific stipulations as to using present roadbeds in any legislation looking to permanent road building.

Ex-Vice President, and now Ambassador, Dawes uttered another but more elegant H—ll and Maria statement in his recent speech when he said in plain terms that too many experts spoil many good things and at a great expense to the public.

We gave a casual look at the report of the Tennessee highway commission just the other day and observed that the expenditures listed under the head of salaries were approximately, as we recall at this moment, more than 40 per cent of the money expended.

What shall the harvest be of the immense public expenditures of the present and the graft whose hydra-head, ostrich like, is hid just beneath the surface?

The editor of the Jackson Daily News quotes from a letter from Weber Wilson written to him shortly after the primary last year, these words: "After you defeated me". Now the Daily News did some mighty effective scotching, but it was our impression that Hubert Stephens defeated Weber.

SAYS CHURCH SHOULD USE NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

The director of publicity of the Northern Presbyterian church said, at the close of the General Assembly of that church at St. Paul only recently, that the churches should buy and pay for space in newspapers because it is the best way to get their message over, and because the business world holds that newspaper advertising excels every other. Below follows what the churchman said:

"The business world spends millions for publicity where the Church spend dollars. The Church gets a great deal of reading space in the newspapers as legiti-mate news, but the Church has a message for humanity that it could to advantage express in large use of paid advertising space.

"One single brand of cigarettes of the many brands advertised, appropriated $12,500,000 for this year's advertising, half of which is being spent in newspapers alone. The continued experience of regular advertisers demonstrates the newspapers offer the most effective medium of appeal.

"Pioneers in the use of the radio for propaganda rate newspapers as worth ten times the radio appeal and apportion their advertising budgets accordingly."

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN ON THE SCREEN.

Time is not only a great leveler but it serves to soften many hard ideas and to give thinking people the viewpoint of those who hold different convictions. This is being strikingly illustrated just now in the picture of Uncle Tom's Cabin which is being shown in the movies all over the South.

Mrs. Stowe, it has been stated by some of her intimates, thought she was writing a book that would please the South and that would serve to aid the better thinking element in the South to give needed attention to any brutal practices among slaveholders and to rid slavery of some of its most horrible aspects.

The Hattiesburg American, of May 17, contained the following editorial under the caption, "Uncle Tom's Cabin", which states most excellently some frequently overlooked historical facts, and which rather sermonizes on the book which played such an important part in bringing on a war, which it seems now fate decreed should come years earlier than it would have come. The Sentinel thinks a good service will be rendered in its reproducing the American editorial:

"Is this the little woman who made this big war?" asked Abraham Lincoln when Harriet Beecher Stowe, the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," called to see the President during the war between the States. One need not go as far as President Lincoln went in the above question, in order to emphasize the remarkable effect which this book had upon the history of this republic. Published for the first time in serial form in the National Era, just nine months after the Fugitive Slave Law was passed by Congress as part of the famous Compromise of 1850, this book did much to destroy that compromise, and served as one of the principal agents in bringing about the Civil War.

A screen version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is showing at a local theatre for the rest of this week. Young and old should see it, in order to be better able to appraise the attitude of anti-slavery people in the north whose consciences were fanned into burning flames over the injustices portrayed in its pages by this sister of Henry Ward Beecher, who was also the wife of a professor in a Massachusetts theological school.

We know that Simon Legree was not typical of the slave owners. Scientific studies indicate that most of the slaves were fairly well treated. But all this is beside the point now. The interesting thing to us today as Southerners is to view this picture as it appeared to Northern eyes and thereby appreciate more clearly the righteous indignation which caused thousands of mothers to send their sons to the front in what they verily believed was a holy war.

No matter how angry the author makes us with what we consider her unwarranted condemnation of all slave holders by revealing the sins of a few, the fact remains that this book, published at a psychological moment in the course of the struggle against slavery, galvanized the opposition, encouraged thousands of otherwise law-abiding citizens to violate openly the provisions of the federal law requiring the return of fugitive slaves, and "created that European public opinion, which was so strong an influence in preventing recognition of the Southern Confederacy by England and France."

In Beveridge's Life of Lincoln, the scholarly author speaks of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in these words:

"Uncle Tom's Cabin was the literary sensation of the period. It did more to create sentiment against slavery and even more against the South, than all that had been or was to be spoken or written on the subject. . . . Its success abroad was as great as in the United States. The novel was translated into nearly every language spoken in Europe. One edition appeared in Arabic. Four separate versions were published in France, two in Holland, fourteen in Germany, and thirty editions were printed in London alone, in six months during 1852."

While Clay, Webster and Calhoun crossed swords for the last time in the halls of Congress, and other learned constitutional lawyers argued over states' rights, this narrative "written with dramatic genius" swept the country like a prairie fire. The statesmen were appealing to the head. Uncle Tom appealed to the hearts of the rank and file of northerners as no one else had ever done.

Wendell Phillips, the abolitionist fire-brand, was just about right when he characterized Mrs. Stowe's novel as "an event rather than a book." And it is as an "event" that the screen reproduction of the novel should be regarded. We cannot ignore "events" simply because we do not like them. Fortunately the war between the States is sufficiently removed from our day and time for us to consider the relative historical importance of all matters pertaining thereto.

As Southerners, we still feel that Uncle Tom's Cabin worked a gross injustice on the average slave owner. As Americans, we are willing to accord this book the importance to which its remarkable effectiveness as propaganda entitles it. While the screen version now showing here ignores the fact that Mrs. Stowe's book was written in 1851 and portrays scenes from 1856 through 1863, the picturization of idyllic plantation life at the home of the Sheldons in Kentucky and of a living hell on the farm of Simon Legree brings out the two extremes in treatment of human chattels, while the story of Eliza, the octroon, and her lover reveals the agony which tore the hearts of those unfortunate beings who were both the innocent victims and the cruel subjects of the white man's lust.

The fact that boys and girls saw Uncle Tom's Cabin last night vigorously applauded the appearance of "Yankee" soldiers when the troopers were playing the part of avengers, indicates that the sense of justice in our young folks comes ahead of sectional loves or prejudices. To the older folks, this was a terrible drama out of the bloody past; to the young folks a story of wrongs which had to be righted according to the traditional method of the movies.

MISSISSIPPI WILL LOSE TWO CONGRESSMEN.

As we figure the congressional reapportionment law enacted only a few days ago by congress, Mississippi will lose two congressmen. The total membership of the lower house of congress will remain the same, 435. Eighteen states will not have their delegations changed.

The following states will make the following gains in the number of congressmen: Washington, 1; California, 6; Arizona, 1; Wyoming, 1; Oklahoma, 1; Texas, 2; Michigan, 4; Florida, 1; N. Carolina, 1; Ohio, 3; Connecticut, 1 and New Jersey 2.

The following state will lose as follows: N. Dakota, 1; Nebraska, 1; Kansas, 1; Iowa, 2; Missouri, 3; Louisiana, 1; Indiana, 2; Kentucky, 2; Tennessee, 1; Mississippi, 2; Alabama, 1; Virginia, 1; Pennsylvania, 1; New York, 1; Vermont, 1; Rhode Island, 1; Massachusetts, 1, and Maine, 1.

The national lawmakers would have served their country well had the law provided for a cut of the representation in the lower house to 250. The body is unwieldy now, and better results would be had from fewer members. "In a multitude of counsel there is wisdom", but with equal truth may it be said that with too many counselors there is much folly.

DR. RAFNEL'S RE-ELECTION

Re-election of Dr. R. V. Rafnel as Professor of Veterinary Science at Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College, carrying with it under the law his continuance as executive officer of the State Livestock Sanitary Board, should be a source of gratification to every true friend of a tick-free Mississippi. Dr. Rafnel's retention until January 1 means that he is to direct the course of affairs until the present tick battle is over, even though the actual work is in the hands of his assistant, Dr. S. J. Horn.

Efforts to have the board of trustees of the state university and colleges oust Dr. Rafnel immediately went down to ignominious defeat at Saturday's board meeting just as the same scheme was thwarted in June, 1928. A majority of the trustees recognized the fact that the granting of a $550,000 appropriation to rid South Mississippi of the deadly cattle tick was the result of a compromise under the terms of which it was understood that the status quo would be maintained during the biennium for which the money was appropriated.

Dr. Rafnel is seeing to it that the half million dollars is being wisely expended. He has steadfastly refused to let any plunderers have access to it. A considerable sum remains on hand. He has budgeted the work for the remaining months of the campaign and expects to free this territory from ticks without incurring any deficit.

The statesmanlike action of the five trustees who voted to retain Dr. Rafnel places South Mississippians everywhere in their debt. They declined to play politics on a matter of supreme public importance. They recognized the fact that the tick eradication campaign is proceeding satisfactorily and refused to swap horses in the middle of the stream.

On January 1st, when Dr. Rafnel's tenure of service ends, the campaign will be over. If it has succeeded, as we believe it is going to do, then the gentleman is entitled to his full share of the credit. If the campaign is a failure, then he must shoulder his full share of the blame. His retention in office makes it impossible to pass the buck. The campaign begun under his leadership is to be finished with Rafnel still in office. The Federal government has a fine position waiting for Dr. Rafnel when he finishes his task in Mississippi. The American believes that he is to have the satisfaction of seeing the quarantine lifted, the ticks eradicated, and Mississippi declared tick-free by the time his employment ends.—Hattiesburg American.

The Sentinel knows little of Dr. Rafnel in a personal or in a professional way. But it is aware of the fact that he has been a target for some of the powers that be for nearly two years. This paper feels that the Hattiesburg American has paid him a deserved tribute in the above.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST HIGHWAY COMMISSIONERS.

A partial report was made on Tuesday of the investigation by the state senate of the state highway commission.

From the press reports of the investigators, commissioners Robins, Boone and Denman, and former highway engineer, Kramer, are charged with gross irregularities and with disposing of material and the manipulation of funds. Commissioners Robins and Denman were first appointed by Gov. Bilbo and Mr. Kramer was regarded by many as the Governor's man "Friday". We know little in a personal way of him.

Of course no statement could with due propriety be made just now by one not acquainted with the facts, but we shall believe in the honesty and the integrity of commissioners Robins and Boone until abundant proof is adduced to show otherwise. We know little of Mr. Denman.

It has been our conviction for several years that the highway commission did many things not authorized by law. Still it must be remembered that whatever was done was done with the applause and the approval of road enthusiasts whose zeal outweighs their judgment in many instances. The slogan about then was, "Build the roads regardless; we are with you".

The officer who votes away public money in violation of law, even though he is prompted by sincere and patriotic motives, may expect a reckoning day as sure as fate. Those who stand by and applaud when it is being done, pass on with the procession and forget the part they played in endorsing illegal uses of public funds.

The law maps out the course of public officials. It is better to follow the law in using public funds.

PETITION FOR PARDON

To His Excellency, Theo. G. Bilbo, Governor of Mississippi.

We the under signed citizens of Grenada County, Miss. do most respectfully petition and ask that your Excellency grant a pardon to Lewis Liles, who, on the thirty-first day of Jan. 1929 in Circuit Court of Grenada County, Miss., plead guilty to the charge of Grand Larceny and was sentenced on the thirty-first day of Jan. 1929 to the term of 1 year in the State Penitentiary of said State for said crime.

We respectfully show to your Excellency that this is Liles' first offense, that he is a young man of twenty-four years, that he has a wife and one small child that are dependent on him for their livelihood, that the amount involved in the case was the small amount of thirty dollars, that he has been a respected citizen of Grenada County, Miss., since childhood. We further wish to show to your Excellency that prison life to a boy like this is not for the betterment for either society or the individual, that Liles feels deeply the disgrace that he has brought upon himself and his family and we believe that if he is given a pardon that he will in the future make a better citizen.

We are advised that he has made a model prisoner since his incarceration and respectfully submit and ask that your Excellency grant him a pardon.

Respectfully submitted,
J. H. HARRIS and Others.

"I had often read of Cardui, so I thought I would try it. I soon began to improve after I had taken Cardui for a while."

Misses Mary and Frances Rose have as their guest this week their cousin, Mr. Fred McCormick, of Coffeeville.

Mrs. W. B. Hoffa has been brought home from a Memphis hospital where she has been under the care of nerve specialists for some weeks, but it seems that her condition is in no wise improved, however, she has gained in strength and is able to sit up much of the time.

Mr. R. D. Sharp spent Tuesday in Jackson attending a meeting of Majestic radio dealers from all over the state of Mississippi and parts of Louisiana. He states that dealers are more than ever enthusiastic over the Majestic and that they believe it to be the outstanding achievement in radio.

Mrs. W. W. Whitaker and children spent a short while this week in Water Valley visiting their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Andrew Erickson.

The many friends of Miss Rosalyn Tribble, of Holcomb, will be sorry to know she is in Grenada Hospital, having undergone an operation for appendicitis Monday. It is hoped she will soon be able to return to her home.

Mrs. Lipsey, of Durant, who has just spent a month in the Wesley House at Biloxi, will make an interesting talk telling of her visit there. A large attendance is very much desired.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Trotman had as their guests this week their brothers, Messrs. O. C. and E. R. Trotman, the former from La Feria, Texas, and the latter from Tupelo. They all went to Charleston Thursday to spend the day with homefolks.

After their visit here they all went to Jackson to see their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Shamberger.

STATE RIVALRY

Because The Wall Street Journal lately spoke in appreciation of Florida's sound tax policy, principally exemplified in the taxes she does not levy, readers in other states have written letters charging favoritism. They want to know why their state, which of course is in some way the most remarkable state in the Union, should not receive equal publicity. The charge of playing favorites does not hold water. Any state will receive praise in these columns under certain conditions.

If it drives business beyond its borders by fool taxes and dishonest policies, addressed to corporations which cannot get away, no state need be surprised if it is ignored. A state is what its people make it. However small its natural advantages may be, if people are lightly taxed and honestly treated, if it is recognized that corporations afford prosperous employment to thousands who would otherwise go elsewhere, if railroads are not compelled to subsidize rival enterprises through taxes and vexatious regulation, that state will receive ready appreciation.

When a state sets out to attract men of capital and ability, to afford a pleasant domicile to those who do not like to see the deserved accumulations of a lifetime squandered in affording unnecessary jobs for politicians, it is not only acting well within its rights, but greatly in the public interest. We often speak of free trade between forty-eight states over a vast area of the earth's surface as in some measure the reason for American prosperity. We forget that every state is in competition with every other state.

There is no need to mention names in this connection but half a dozen states, handed over to demagogues, humbugs and plain crooks, are driving business out of their borders. The movement takes time but in the course of years everything escapes which is not nailed down. The competent worker moves elsewhere, leaving behind an inferior citizenship, earning a discontented and precarious living.

When a rich man takes his wealth to Florida, or any other state, that wealth does more for the state than it does for him. It is a fund for the employment of labor and it renders prosperous all those who serve its employers. It is a reservoir of credit and a guarantee of good faith. Such a state is the first to be considered when railroad extensions are contemplated or large power developments are under discussion. A state which complains that it is neglected or treated with an indifference which expresses contempt, has only its electorate and its politicians to thank. Every responsible newspaper should be in the business of praising well governed states, of which we have far too few.—Wall Street Journal.

A WARM WELCOME THAT HAS NEVER WORN OUT

"The nation-wide acclaim with which the Chrysler is heralded is due to the quick appreciation of a motor-wise public that here at last is a car which is a marked departure from all earlier practice and performance. + + In distinctive appearance, in performance ability, in economy of operation, in fine standards of manufacturing, in roadability, in driving convenience, in supreme quality, motor car experts give the Chrysler a place apart. + + For the Chrysler is more than a great engineering feat—it is, literally, the culmination of all past engineering experience."

TRUE FIVE YEARS AGO AND STILL TRUE

Daring to go back five years when the first Chrysler appeared, Chrysler can read without apology every promise made then, for every promise has been fulfilled.

In 1924 Chrysler was new. Its claims for performance, economy and stamina had not been proved valid by the hundreds of thousands of cars and millions of miles of driving that support today's leadership.

True, the automotive industry was started by Chrysler innovations. The public trend was to Chrysler if only because Chrysler instantly out-moded other cars. Comprehensive tests had convinced Chrysler engineers that they had built a superior product. Chrysler owners before long discovered that the car upheld every promise made for it, and their eagerness to testify to its speed, its power and its strength resulted in the prevailing world-wide acceptance of Chrysler.

Now, in 1929, the public's confidence in Chrysler is still unwavering. You, too, will discover the reasons for this increasing acceptance of Chrysler leadership in quality and value if you will test the car yourself.

Reception and Shower.

The Community House, ever a place of interest to our little city, was made unusually attractive on last Friday evening, June 21, when the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church U. S., entertained with a reception and shower in honor of Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Watson, who had just been recently married. The long spacious room of the building lent itself beautifully to the decorations carried out in color scheme of white and green by the use of Shasta daisies and ferns in baskets and stands placed over the room.

Mrs. Frank L. Fair, president of auxiliary, had receiving with her, Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Watson, pastors of local churches and their wives, together with the presidents of the different religious and social organizations of the city.

As the guests arrived they were met at the door by Miss Austin Johnston and served delicious punch by Misses Mary Lou Stubblefield, Margaret Turner, Jane Wesson and Elsie Woodward, who were daintily gowned in pastel shades of organdy and georgette. Then the guests were ushered to the bride's register where Mrs. Ralph Ray and Miss Lucile Hanna presided.

All during the evening beautiful musical numbers were enjoyed. Miss Elsie Inman accompanied by Mrs. Frank Reich, sang two beautiful solos. Miss Dorothy Fair accompanied by Mrs. Roger Parkes, in her usual charming manner, rendered several violin selections.

The long tables at the rear of the room draped in white, gracefully decorated in ferns, were laden with many valuable and useful gifts of all kinds, attesting the popularity of the bride and groom.

The girl scouts, with their bright and cheerful presence were there to make the popular pastor's bride feel a warm welcome in our midst.

The bride was lovely in a gown of beautiful white georgette and lace.

A more appropriate setting could not have been found than this Community House in honoring the bride of one who has labored with others in untiring efforts to make this a beauty spot of our community.—Winston County Journal.

Mrs. Watson was, before her marriage, Miss Nannie Lou Hamilton, of Grenada.

Misses Catherine Lufkin and Elsie Lockett spent several days the first of the week in Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burt had as their guests Sunday their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Burt, of Phillip. While here they also visited another brother, Mr. Rogers Burt, and his wife in Duck Hill.

A Call to Industry

The Illinois Central System lives in a community—the Mississippi Valley—which is more than a thousand miles in length and which includes fourteen important states. To assist in the industrial development of this great territory is one of the railroad's major undertakings. Such a program is one of enlightened self-interest, for the progress of the Illinois Central System is bound up in the advancement of its territory.

Good transportation is an industrial necessity. First, therefore, the Illinois Central System endeavors to give the best service that a well-trained organization working with adequate facilities can perform.

In addition, the Illinois Central System is constantly seeking to be helpful to the industries of its territory in the solution of their varied problems. Assistance is rendered in locating raw materials, developing markets, increasing production, reducing expense and meeting the other timely demands of a fast-moving age.

The services of the entire Illinois Central System organization, nation-wide in scope, are available not only to industries already established in the Mississippi Valley but also to those seeking locations therein. The railroad has reliable information available with respect to industrial opportunities, and special surveys will be gladly made upon request.

This territory has many attractions for industries. Its great natural advantages are becoming well known. Supplementing these is an alert citizenship with a co-operative spirit.

Industry and transportation are closely related. They work together for mutual benefit in the territory of the Illinois Central System.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

L. A. DOWNS,
President, Illinois Central System.

Lesson for July 7

THE STORY OF EZEKIEL

LESSON TEXT—Ezekiel 3:4-11

GOLDEN TEXT—As I live, saith the Lord God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turn from his way and live.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Ezekiel, a Messenger of God.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Ezekiel, a Messenger of God.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Frankness and Friendship.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—A Prophet-Pastor.

Ezekiel prophesied in the land of the captivity. The purpose of his ministry was threefold. (1) To keep before the house of Israel that they were in captivity because of their sins (14:23). (2) To show that God is righteous in His visitation of judgment upon them (7:8, 9). (3) To sustain their faith by assuring them of their national restoration, the punishment of their enemies, and their final exaltation among the nations when Messiah should reign (34:11-31).

I. Ezekiel's Call (2:1, 2).

1. Command to stand up (v. 1).

He was given a vision of the Almighty God on His throne of glory (ch. 1). The purpose of this vision was to give a synthetic grasp of the execution of the divine will through the powers and forces which God had created. Before this vision the prophet fell prostrate upon his face. When one sees the diversity and complexity of the agencies employed, including the animate and inanimate creation intelligently moving forward, under the direction of the Almighty, he will be ready to face any task regardless of its difficulty.

2. Filled with the Spirit (v. 2).

By the Spirit the divine energy entered him and enabled him to execute his commission.

II. Ezekiel's Commission (vv. 3-8).

1. The moral condition of the people (vv. 3, 4).

(1) A rebellious nation (v. 3). This perhaps referred to their idolatrous practices.

(2) Impudent children (v. 4). Impudent means literally "hard of face." It means the grossest perversity which caused them to stand up in the presence of the prophets of God without a sense of guilt.

2. The charge (v. 4).

He was to deliver God's message. It was to be, "Thus saith the Lord God."

3. The difficulty of his task (vv. 5-8).

The prophet was to deliver the message of God whether they would hear or forbear. He was to fearlessly execute his commission, though the attitude of the people be as "briers, thorns and scorpions."

A faithful minister's life and testimony will run counter to the world (II Tim. 3:12).

III. Ezekiel's Experimental Qualifications (2:9-3:16).

Before one can preach to others he must have a personal experience.

1. Eating the book (2:9-3:9).

This book contained God's woes upon the stiff-necked and rebellious people. In order to speak God's threatenings effectively to others we must inwardly digest and appropriate them ourselves. The result of this eating was that Ezekiel was made "hard of face and forehead" to go against the people who were "hard of face and forehead."

2. Urged on by the Spirit (3:10-14).

In order to strengthen Ezekiel for his task, the wonderful symbolism of God's providential agencies which had been before him in chapter one was brought to his attention, assuring him that God would accompany him to his new destination.

3. Entering into sympathy (v. 15).

In order to minister to a people one must show the message is from the depths of the heart. Ezekiel mingled his tears with theirs.

IV. Ezekiel's Grave Responsibility (3:17-22).

Two things were required of him as a watchman over the flock.

1. To hear the Word at God's mouth (v. 17).

The source of his message was God's Word. This is true today.

2. To sound the warning (v. 17).

After he had heard God's message he was to speak it out; then his responsibility was discharged.

V. Ezekiel's Courage (24:15-18).

He was to be taught by a sorrowful experience. He was to turn his face from even natural desire. At the death of his wife he was forbidden to mourn. By this means God sought to impress upon Israel the seriousness of the situation.

Column About Colored People of Grenada County Items by J. H. Phillips

Trip to Mt. Hermon

We accepted an invitation to visit the church at Mt. Hermon last Sunday. Mt. Hermon is one of the oldest rural churches of Grenada county and around it clusters much history of religious, moral and agricultural activities. For more than half a century it has figured in everything that has meant much to the development of our group throughout the county. Many of our outstanding families have resided and now reside in this section of the county.

An elaborate and entertaining program had been arranged by the Rev. C. G. Scrivens who is in charge of the flock and to his credit he is a live wire morally, socially and religiously. He is leaving nothing undone to make this community a factor for good.

Rev. Scrivens is loved and respected for his aggressiveness and ardent zeal he is putting forth for the advancement of this splendid community. Mrs. Scurr, a licentiate in the A. M. E. church preached a gospel sermon on this occasion from a well chosen text and it was well received by the waiting congregation. It was full of thought and earnestness. Dr. W. H. Strickland and Dr. W. G. O'Neal, practicing physicians, were present and addressed the audience on health, cooperation and economy. Both of these gentlemen are well posted on the things necessary for people of our group and if what they advised our people to put into practice is heeded it will not be long before we will be able to pull up to standard where we will be an asset to our community life. We succeeded in an humble way to organize a local organization in this community to assist in the work of charity, the Old Folks Home, located in this city. The people were open and responded to the effort by electing Mrs. Belle Williams president, Mrs. C. D. Parker, secretary and Mrs. Mary Chamberlain, treasurer. The entire church promised to give each month their support to the Old Folks Home. They raised as their initial contribution the sum of $4.61. The idea and necessity of a ladies' rest room for our group met with a unanimous approval and a willingness to cooperate when the project is on foot. The "Mock Conference" program came in for its share of interest. The ladies of this church officiated as bishop, general officers and pastors in this mock conference and be it said to their credit, performed their work well. A nice sum was raised for church purposes. Mrs. Minnie Mae Bland and Mrs. Bowdry spread a nice dinner for us as guest and we enjoyed it to the limit. The regular dinner for the occasion was spread later. We of necessity had to leave before it was all over. We had as much pleasure and enjoyment as we could stand for every moment of our stay was interesting.

Mr. W. E. Miller, brother of our dentist, C. W. Miller, en route to Chicago from New Orleans, stopped over to visit his brother and while here was entertained by Mr. James Weathers.

Mrs. James Weathers is away visiting her parents and relatives in south Mississippi.

Mrs. Mamie Pamphlet, of Memphis, is in the city visiting her sisters who live here.

Mr. Harry Ratcliff, of Memphis, spent two weeks in this city visiting his mother and friends. Harry Ratcliff never fails to spend his vacation with the home folks. He is in the mail service in the city of Memphis, but is never happier than when he is at home among friends. His stay here was a pleasant one.

Miss Athlene Hudson, who has been attending school at Rust College, is at home to spend vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hudson.

Miss Maggie B. Fitzgerald is at home for the summer. She has been attending school at Rust College, Holly Springs, Miss.

Mrs. Clara (Fitzgerald) Orr, of Louisville, Ky., is visiting at home for a few weeks and is enjoying herself much among relatives and friends.

Mr. A. H. Henderson, our farm demonstrator, went over to Starkville to be at the demonstrator's meeting held in that city beginning last Monday.

The summer school opens July 15th at 9:00 a. m. in the high school building. The best in the history of the summer schools is the slogan. A very efficient faculty filled with enthusiasm and very much interested in school work will be with us. Our aim is to make your stay one of pleasure, as well as profit. Let each one be ready for the first day in order that no time may be lost.

The "Community Needy Circle" a club recently organized whose motto is to lift the community as they climb, invites all Sunday School members and friends, to co-operate with them in a movement for the betterment of all Christian schools throughout the town on Sunday, July 14th at 10:00 a. m. at Vincent Chapel M. E. Church. Miss Lillie Phillips, president, Mrs. A. M. Rogers, advisor.

Mrs. S. W. Rogers' account of conference at Jackson, Miss.

The third annual conference for colored women was held in Jackson, Miss., June 7-14.

Thirty three delegates were in attendance, coming from various sections of the state. The instruction received was very helpful, each one so filled with enthusiasm that we who received it were certainly inspired. Each morning at 6:45 the morning watch was an inspiring meeting. The songs and prayers fitted us for the services throughout the day. At 8:40 daily the devotional period which was always a spiritual service, various hymns discussed, and beautifully pictured. The period devoted daily to the Sunday School work and the solving the various problems of same, was certainly one very, very, beneficial to all, and each felt more inspired to do more work along that line than ever before. The health talks given were especially enjoyed daily at 9:20. One of the most enjoyable features was the demonstration given by a group of girls who had recently completed a course in the hygiene class. The Bible hour was always a beautiful one. The splendid manner in which each passage was taken up and carefully pictured made more beauty in that study than we ever saw. At 7 p. m. daily, the service that was always looked forward to with delight, "known as vesper"; never have I witnessed a more inspiring service than this was, such fervent prayers offered, real spirit in song, and the devout leader only made us feel as if we were nearing our home. A splendid lecture each evening, which added much to our meeting, especially the one on Palestine. We found ourselves looking around over there. Very interesting it was. Our pleasure in a trip to Africa and seeing some of the articles from there was very instructive. Two excellent lectures on the home were ours to enjoy. The day nurseries was another splendid lecture. We planned to take this up with our clubs as that is certainly needed in our communities. Daily at 3:00 p. m. we spent two hours in sewing, quite a nice accomplishment there. Each delegate was given a dress to be made and exhibited the last day, which was done.

The meeting was certainly one of real service. Each one present spoke of the real benefit derived from same. One could not feel otherwise after having heard such a splendid explanation on "Why We Are Here", as was given us at the opening.

We left feeling more interested in our communities, and more inspired to do our full duty as Christian workers than ever before.

The "Community Needy Circle" recently organized held a very instructive meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. M. Rogers. The topics discussed were helpful and very inspiring. The officers are as follows: Misses Lillie Phillips, president; Rebecca Montgomery, 1st vice president; Ruth Jones, 2nd vice president; Elize McFarlane, 3rd vice president; Maggie Leonard, secretary; Allie Taylor, asst. secretary; Flora McLain, treasurer; Lewellen Browne, corresponding secretary; Ella Mason, chaplain; Sarah Parker, reporter; Mrs. A. M. Rogers, Organizer and advisor.

do you shout the name of your car or whisper it?

When you have finished discussing politics and the home team's batting slump and the conversation turns to automobiles, you naturally would rather be an orator than an auditor. And when you are asked the name of your car, you want to shout it, not whisper it. The driver of a Chrysler-built De Soto Six is proud to talk about his car in any company, for its name is accepted as a badge of real quality. Although De Soto Six sells for as low as $845, the price needs no apology from the owner. He found that he did not have to go higher to purchase complete motoring satisfaction. Above all else, De Soto gives a real foundation for pride of ownership. This pride must be based on something more than mere transportation, nowadays. It can be inspired only by a car that conforms to every high standard of performance, appearance, comfort and safety.

People take it for granted that an automobile will get you there and back, that it started in life with a presentable coat of paint and that it has its quota of gimcracks and knickknacks. The test of its value is how much it exceeds these minimum requirements. The stricter the test, the more evident is De Soto's all-around superiority.

Ask for a demonstration and learn for yourself why De Soto Six owners like to "talk automobile" in any company.

Good Poetry---But Poor Business

"Serene, I fold my hands and wait,
And care not for wind nor tide nor sea.
I rave no more 'gainst time and fate,
For lo! my own shall come to me."

—John Burroughs.

We read that for the first time, many years ago—and it made us sore. We read it again recently, and its effect was the same only more so. Can you fancy a person with any initiative or ambition calmly, without an effort toward acquisition, waiting for the things he wanted to be handed to him as a reward for his uncomplaining patience? People like that generally get what's coming to them—but it's so seldom what they expected!

Most people realize that they won't get business by folding their hands and waiting for it, and they have stamina and determination to get out and hunt it up—for the buying public requires constant and persuasive coaxing.

We can help you stem the tide of competition successfully and win the approbation you are seeking. Don't wait for success—go after it.

An Oklahoma Mother Says:

"BLACK-DRAUGHT is a fine medicine to give to children. I use it for mine whenever I need to give them a laxative. They don't mind taking it when I make it into a tea, and it quickly relieves constipation and the bad symptoms which come from it. I can recommend it to other mothers, for I have found it useful in my home.

"When I was a child my mother gave it to me whenever I complained of not feeling well. I have always taken it for upset stomach and constipation. It is about the only medicine I have to take. A few doses of Black-Draught, now and then, keep my system in order. My husband takes it, too. I hardly see how I could keep house without Black-Draught. It has become a standby with us, in keeping the children and ourselves well."—Mrs. Luther Bradford, Claremore, Okla.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE DISCUSSES DEPRIEST TEA PARTY

It is the duty of every newspaper, insofar as it can, to put before its readers the news and the opinions of others in different parts of the country touching matters of general interest. The Sentinel is therefore reproducing an extract from an editorial in the Chicago Tribune relative to the much talked about DePriest official tea. The Tribune is said to be one of the most rabid Republican newspapers in all the country, and one that fairly voices the Republican sentiment of the northern section of the country. The Tribune administers a back-handed lick to those Democrats of the South who refused to support Smith and supported Hoover. It hands out the following in this particular: "The southern Democrats who voted for Al Smith, who stood by their loyalties, their traditions and their principles, could be taken into the Republican party without disgracing it, but the southern renegades who damned themselves and the party they adopted by bolting their own for the reasons they had, merely added southern intolerance to northern bigotry, southern illiteracy to northern ignorance and southern cruelty to northern barbarity."

But let the extracts from the Tribune editorial speak for themselves: "Several things need to be said of the DePriest incident in the social life of official Washington. The first congressional district of Chicago, in which the residents and voters are for the most part negroes, elected a colored man to represent them. It was the thing to be expected. It was the natural working of the American political system where franchise rights are respected. The wife of the president gives tea parties to the women of official circles. The wife of the negro congressman received an invitation in one group and went. "There were two other things Mrs. Hoover could have done. She could have given up the idea of having such parties because there was a negro congressman, or she could have ignored Mrs. DePriest. She accepted the situation as it existed.

"The Hoovers either had to take the natural course or they had to make an incident in which the White House would declare the inequality of citizens in the eyes of government. It is not deniable that the inequalities exist in fact, but the government isn't expected to concede it, emphasize it, and make it of record.

"The North does not grant the negro social equality, but it does not do so much talking about it. And yet the negro problem is in the North and not in the South.

"When the White House incident got its publicity Mr. DePriest made the worst of it. He showed himself lacking in taste, judgment and discretion. That would astonish no one familiar with negro politics in Chicago. The city has paid and will continue to pay for the practices of its white politicians in exploiting negro voters and the combination of white and black politics is about the worst check the black race has in the North.

"The incident was welcome to the southern Democrats in Washington and in their home states. It has been used to make the Hoovers, particularly of Virginia, North Carolina, Texas and Florida, miserable. An insufferable Virginian has been wiring Mrs. Hoover that her act cost the Republican party thousands of votes in the South. Let it be said that unless the Republican party loses those votes it will be lost itself.

"The worst thing which could happen to the Republican party would be to carry southern states again in the conditions attending its southern successes of last November. It has in the North all of that stripe of citizenship that a party can contain and live. When the shotgun which terrorizes the black is combined with the shotgun which kills a white party of homicide has been formed. The southern Democrats who voted for Al Smith, who stood by their loyalties, their traditions and their principles, could be taken into the Republican party without disgracing it, but the southern renegades who damned themselves and the party they adopted by bolting their own for the reasons they had merely added southern intolerance to northern bigotry, southern illiteracy to northern ignorance, and southern cruelty to northern barbarity.

"The Republican party cannot combine Bishop Cannon of Virginia and Tom Heflin of Alabama with Shumaker of Indiana and Holsapple of Michigan and continue to live. If it adds the negro flogging Klux of Alabama and Georgia to the life for a pint savages of Michigan and the sickroom snoopers of Indiana it had better take the name of Abraham Lincoln out of its records and substitute the name of Torquemada.

"The Republican party will be on its last legs when it has southern clergy dictating the shooting of northern whites and condoning the manhandling of southern blacks. You can't combine in a living party a devotion to the fugitive slave act, an intelligence dominated by the monkey people of Arkansas and Tennessee, a humanity which applauds the murder of innocent citizens by the government, a culture exemplified by the Jones 5 and 10 law, and a tolerance which evades the rites of the Spanish inquisition.

"In that fellowship there is death for any party. The prophecy does not require a prophet.

"If Mrs. Hoover's tea party has driven the southern fanatics away from union and association with the northern fanatics, it has been the best use of tea since the night it was thrown into Boston harbor."

Duties of Citizenship

Every gift or ability is a talent to be accounted for, and to be improved to our Master's advantage. Yet it is also a debt to our country to have a calling; and it concerns the commonwealth that none be idle, but all busied.—George Herbert.

NATIONAL GUARD HAS RIFLE RANGE LOCATED NEAR HERE

Just across the railroad bridge over Yalobusha River one could have heard yesterday a splendid imitation of real warfare for it was there that Headquarters Co., 1st Battery, 178th Field Artillery, was holding one of its regular practice shoots. The company's headquarters are in Water Valley but the rifle range has been located near Grenada for many reasons. Several weeks ago the company held its first practice there and it is understood that they will be held regularly in the future. So far, only rifle practice has been had but it is said that heavier guns will be used at an early date.

Have Sharp Ears

There are sounds that are so faint that no human ear can detect them, but which run into the waters of an aquarium will stun and kill small fish. An earthworm can hear well below the soil the tread of a thrush above.
